What's new in 2015 Release 4?

Report information on Licenses page

The Account > Licenses page now displays the reporting data retention period and data storage location for the logged-on account.

Stricter password checking

When creating or updating portal passwords, note that passwords can no longer contain common words or keyboard sequences.

Resolved issues in this release

- An exception containing an incomplete email address can now be edited or deleted.
- Mail route checking was failing with an unhelpful error.
- End-user message report links for releasing or whitelisting a message are no longer active when the end user is not permitted to perform those actions.
- An EUMR user whose report subscription includes an email address with an unregistered domain now receives a meaningful error message when attempting to perform an action such as whitelisting.

- Uploading a large file of aliases that generates a lot of validation errors (for example, the domains are not in the customer policies as checked domains) no longer crashes the portal.
- Trailing spaces in email addresses subscribed to EUMRs are now stripped out automatically, as this issue was stopping end-user actions such as whitelisting from working.
- When testing a TLS secure route, an email message is now sent to the postmaster of the domain being checked.
